Police Chief Sullivan To Crack Down On Motor Violators

Tewksbury—Following a meeting with the Board of Selectmen, which stressed cutting down on accidents and halting highway violations, Police Chief Sullivan and the Selectmen have drawn up a stricter enforcement program. On the agenda of the meeting was the discussion of the increase in autos using Route 38, a 100% increase in five years; and the limited availability of police to patrol the various roads. On this matter Police Chief Sullivan reported that the state police aid his department on occasion, but Routes 38 and 133 are secondary roads, and the state police have to cover several first class roads in the vicinity.

The selectmen sent a request after the conference, to the Department of Public Works, for action to ease the present traffic problems. In particular, to send experts to Tewksbury in order that a survey may be made and new speed limits be set up which take into consideration the added traffic burden on Route 38. It was suggested that the possibility of widening or changing Route 38 be taken under advisement, that the added flow of traffic when US Route 93 opens not be an added burden. It is expected that with the opening of this route, the traffic on Route 38, Chandler, Shawsheen, and East Streets will show a considerable increase.

On January 14, Board Chairman Joseph Whalan, Selectman Morrissey, state legislators and town officials from Wilmington met with Anthony DiNatale, Department of Public Works Commissioner, on the proposal to widen Route 38, which was originally made by the Wilmington Selectmen. The proposals specifies that the road from the Wilmington-Woburn line to the Tewksbury-Lowell line be made a four lane highway. Representatives Stanley Bocklo, and John Brox, State Senator William Madden and Representative Thomas Donahue were asked to give their support to this proposal which the Selectmen of both towns feel is so necessary.

Also upon Chief Sullivan's recommendation at the meeting with the Selectmen, a letter has been sent to Clement Riley, Registrar of Motor Vehicles, that a "Speed Squad" appear unannounced at various times and placed in Tewksbury. A drive of strict enforcement will start immediately to assure that motorists and pedestrians obey the laws at all times.

Things are really going to be bouncing next Tuesday evening in the Wilmington High School when the gymnasium resounds to the grunts and groans of a card of big-time, world championship calibre wrestlers led by the world's champion "Killer" Kowalski, who with a slate of top-drawer, professional, matmen, invades the town for a one-night stand to benefit the student-loan-fund of the local Rotary Club.

Locking horns with the "Killer" in the main event will be ever-stifly challenger from East Boston, Frank Scarpa, while "The Masked Marvel" Boris K. Fabian, and Rocky Baron will go two out of three falls in the semi-final, with a 45-minute time limit. The opening bout, which goes on promptly at 8 P.M. will feature Bull Montana, the "Quincy Terror" matching muscles with Hank Waishik of New York. Referring the bouts will be the ever-popular George Lenihan.

The High School gymnasium, which is being specially set up for the big wrestling show, is expected to be filled to capacity by Bell Time. Advance tickets may be obtained in Wilmington at the following business establishments (or from any Rotarian): Altman's, Coombs Furniture Store, Elia's Country Store, Fred F. WILMINGTON MAN DIES IN AIR FORCE CRASH

Many friends, neighbors and the whole town were saddened to hear of the death of Capt. Renee J. LaRivee Jr., of the U.S. Air Force, who was killed in an airplane crash in Fairbanks, Alaska.

Tewksbury - Dorothy Sullivan, age 8, received a sprained ankle on January 14 then she slipped on the schoolyard of Saint William's. She was taken to Saint John's Hospital by Police Officer Suprenant, and was returned home after treatment. Dorothy is the daughter of Police Chief and Mrs. John Sullivan.

APOLOGIES TO THE NO. READING LWV

North Reading—Our apologies to the No. Reading LWV. It is regrettable that in our first issue to enter No. Reading homes, an error was made in the caption of an article, inferring that the League was supporting a candidate for office in the coming elections. Although the article belied the heading, the error was unfortunate. The League's policy clearly states that it never supports or opposes a candidate for any public office.

Frosting Recipe:

1 lb. Crisco 1/2 teaspoon salt
3 lb. Confectioners' sugar
1/2 cup water 1 teaspoon vanilla

Place the Crisco in a large mixing bowl. Add sifted sugar and water alternately. Add salt and vanilla. Bring one half of this frosting to the first class in a covered container. ROTARY BANQUET

North Reading--The Third Annual Testimonial Banquet to the football squad, held last Wednesday evening at the High School Cafeteria, is now history. The affair got off to a good start with a delicious catered meal, followed by introduction of the head table, by President Harold W. Chase. The speakers for the evening were John Yovicsin, Head Coach at Harvard University, Governor Joseph Torrisi, Gregory Coffin, and Coach William Driscoll of NRHS. Coach Yovicsin gave a descriptive and informative insight into Harvard's Athletic Program and provoked many inspirational thoughts.

The presentation of the jackets to the seniors was made by Rotary President Harold Chase, followed by thank-yous from Co-Captains John Puglia and Chuck Carucci. The event of the evening was the presentation of the "Football Sportsmanship Award," which this year went to John S. Doucette.

History Of Wilmington

History tells us that Wilmington was actually part of Charlestown, consisting of areas in the so called "Charlestown Village."

It came about, when in September of 1642 the inhabitants of Charlestown appealed to the General Court for more agricultural land to help feed their families.

As a result, sections known now as Woburn, Billerica, Reading, Wilmington and Burlington were all selected for this purpose and was called "Wooburne" which was of course, quite some distance in area.

This proved to be inconvenient due to travel conditions. People were asking for a meeting house in their own territory instead of travelling to Wooburne to discuss their problems.

In 1730, a second petition was filed so that each section could be incorporated as a distinct town. The final outcome in 1730 (September 25) was brought about when the General Court passed an act that divided "Wooburne" into three territories. So, the Northeastern part of Woburn, with the Westerly part of Reading made the township of Wilmington.

After being incorporated the town was made to have an orthodox minister and to provide for him. Rev. James Varney of Boston, a Harvard graduate in the class of 1725 was the first pastor appointed.

The chief products of these days were: milk, eggs, fuel, apples, cranberries, hay, pork, beef and potatoes. Of course we all know that the Baldwin apple was originated on Butters Row, Wilmington and was made famous by Lammie Baldwin of Woburn who cut scions from it and gave it its name and reputation.

The first tannery in Wilmington was known as the Perry Converse & Co. at North Wilmington. The only other industry worth mentioning during this era was the Merrimack Converse & Co. As far back as the 1700's it was mentioned that Wilmington was favorably situated for business.

Wilmington was always known to have residents of high character who took the education of their children very seriously. Yes, even in that day and age, parents were quite concerned about their children getting the proper education.

The first School Committee in 1889 consisted of Charles A. Swain, Frank Carter and Richard L. Folkins.

Wilmington was also cited for its water works, of which there were none. All water was supplied by wells, and that didn't prove to be too bad as Wilmington people were known to be healthier for it!

This years election promises to be a lively contest in regards to electing members for the Board of Selectmen. It's heartening to see that our town has grown not only in population, but in the number of public spirited citizens, cognizant of their civic duty, who are willing to serve their Town in public office.

Due to the voting in of a five-man Board of Selectmen at the special town meeting in December, there are three vacancies to be filled on that Board. To the best of this writer's knowledge, there are now eight candidates in the running for the three vacancies, as follows:

For the three-year term: Malcolm MacRae (incumbent), Leland Road; James E. Herrick Jr., 295 Elm St.; Frank F. Ferris, 77 North St.

For the two-year term: William E. Doten, Park St., Thomas J. Doyle, 205 Central St.; Earl W. Campbell, 11 Woodlawn Rd.

For the one-year term: Benjamin F. Sands, 78 Haverhill St.; Arthur S. Drinkwater, 8 Damon St.

The only other known contest at this time is for the vacancy on the School Committee. Eleanor N. Puglia of 199 Park Street and Walter J. Parow of 4 Country Club Road have both announced their candidacy for this three-year term.

Our three elementary school PTA Organizations held meetings last week. The Batchelder School PTA met in the school cafeteria last Tuesday evening for a round table discussion of languages in the modern world. Following the business meeting, Mrs. John Cox, program chairman gave a short talk about language communication and then introduced the guests of the evening, Mr. Gregory C. Coffin, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, and Richard Ham, French teacher in the Reading School system. An interesting discussion on languages was enjoyed by parents and guests alike.

On Wednesday evening a combined meeting of the E. Ethel Little and the North Street School PTA Organizations was held in the all-purpose room of the North Street School. Mr. Martin Connolly, president of the North St., PTA, opened the meeting and introduced Mr. William Rice, President of the E.E. Little PTA. Each PTA held a short business meeting prior to the program. Speaker of the evening was Dr. Nicholas J. Flumara, M.D., Mass. Dept. of Public Health, who gave an interesting talk on pre-adolescents. Dr. Flumara is a graduate of Boston University School of Medicine 1939, and Harvard School of Public Health, with a Masters degree. He has been Director of the Div. of Venereal Diseases, MD Ph, since April 1947, is a consultant in Venereal Diseases to the U. S. Public Health Service, and served as president of the Mass. PHS in 1957-58. Dr. Flumara is the author of 34 articles, which have been published in medical journals, and served as a naval medical officer in World War II.

The annual Student-Faculty basketball game, is expected to attract a great deal of interest again this year. The contest is sponsored by the Student Council of North Reading High, and will take place in the gymnasium on January 22, at 7 p.m. There will be student gymnastics between halves of the games. Last year the gym was packed and the event was enjoyed by all (with the possible exception of the teachers.)

It seems a shame more people of the town don't take advantage of the opportunities offered by the monthly Well Baby Clinic, sponsored by the Visiting Nurse Association. Last month only seven babies were examined. This is not a charitable organization; a nominal fee is charged for examination, plus an additional amount for triple-shots. It's a wonderful opportunity for mothers of young children to get together to compare notes and babies, as well as to keep a monthly check on their youngsters' health.

If you would like news of your club or organization in the Crusader, please call this correspondent at the number listed at the head of the column.

Mrs. Raymond Hagen, of 7 Gould St., is a patient at the New England Sanitarium, where she will undergo surgery.

To the casual observer, the furnishings in our Town Hall seem to be in a rather dilapidated condition. The Board of Appeals held their hearings in the Auditorium Thursday evening with the debris of many broken chairs strewn about one section of the hall. The one bench in evidence in the Planning Board meeting room has a broken arm.

Last Thursday marked the beginning of the second round of the cribbage tournament at Moose Lodge #1511. Placing first, second, and third respectively in the first round were Tom Murphy, Joe George and Alex Williamson. Tom Doyle and Bill Schumaker are now tied for first place in the second round. Upon completion of the second round, in nine weeks, there will be a play-off for the Lodge championship.

Laurice Puglia of Park St., now a student at Colby College, Waterville, Me., will be home for a week between semesters, starting next Tuesday. Laurice is majoring in Mathematics. Following in the steps of her mother, well known for her instructive and lifeguard work at the "Y" pool, Laurice is taking additional instruction in swimming, with the intention of working as a lifeguard next summer.

North Reading School Committee Meets

No. Reading - Mr. John Boyle, a 1954 graduate of Salem Teachers College, was appointed to teach 5th grade at the Batchelder School at a special January 6th meeting of the North Reading School Committee. Mr. Boyle will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Rosalie Field. He will assume this new responsibilities on January 11th. Mr. Boyle resides in Beverly, where he was recently elected to the School Committee.

Mrs. Katherine Doherty of North Reading was appointed part-time clerk at the Little School.

Salary items in the 1960 school budget were worked on, according to Assistant Superintendent Gregory Coffin, but a considerable amount of additional work still remains to be done. Another special meeting has been scheduled for Saturday afternoon, at which time expense items will again be reviewed and pruned.

CRAZY DAY SUCCESS

NO, READING--The Don Coyote Crazy Day in Wonderland show proved to be a great success at the North St. School Saturday afternoon, with over 400 children in attendance. Many children were attired in crazy hats, all originals, and took part in the crazy hat parade. Prize for the craziest hat went to four-year old Debra Lynn Sawtelle. Door prizes were won by Janet Rose and David Wilson.

Adults who helped to keep things running smoothly during the show were Martin Connolly, PTA president, Mrs. Maren Murphy, school principal, Mr. and Mrs. William McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. John Eramo, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beaumont and Mrs. Frank Swadel.

NO, READING GARDEN CLUB

NO, READING--Members of the No. Reading Garden Club met last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Francis Misener, Pleasant St. The speaker for the evening was Herbert Hutton of Stoneham, a member of the American Society of Landscape Architect. He illustrated his talk with colored slides of gardens in California, and Brookline and Swampscott, Mass., and those attending came away feeling much better able to cope with their own landscaping problems.

Co-hostess for the evening with Mrs. Misener was Mrs. George Williams. The next regular meeting will be held on Feb. 10, at the home of Mrs. Frederick Zarick, 132 North St., and the program will feature colored slides of the gardens of club members and their friends. The hostess will be Mrs. Howard Tufts, chairman, assisted by Mrs. George Beacom and Mrs. John Lupo.

NORTH READING--The Republican Town Comm. of North Reading voted at a recent meeting to increase its membership.

Any registered Republican voter desiring to become a member of the Comm. may contact Charles V. Statuti at No. Reading 4-2000.

Local Government Real Base Of Our Democracy

With the Town Meeting of Tewksbury not too far away, it is fitting to realize the significance of this form of local government which has served so well since the earliest settlement of the town. It is the purest form of democracy, and evidence of this may be seen at a Town Meeting where each individual may express his or her opinion, whatever it may be. The English think highly of our type of government as may be seen from the following quote from the Encyclopedia Britannica before the 1930's, as edited in England:

"Three main types of rural local government may be distinguished, prevailing in different regions. One is characterized by its unit, the town or township, and exists in the six New England States. The town of New England is generally a rural community, occupying a comparatively small area, and with a population averaging about 3,000, but ranging from 200 in newly settled districts, or thinly peopled districts, up to 17,000 in the vicinity of large cities and in manufacturing neighborhoods. Each town is governed by the town meeting, an assembly of all the qualified voters within the limits, which meets at least once a year in the Spring, and also at other times when specially summoned."

"This assembly elects the town officials at the annual meetings, but it is much more than an electoral body. It is a deliberative assembly and the legislative authority for local matters. It enacts by-laws and ordinances, receives the reports of the local officials, passes their accounts, manages the town property, votes appropriations for each item of expenditure, and authorizes the necessary taxation. Every resident citizen has the right to bring forward and speak in favor of any proposal. The meeting is presided over by a chairman called the Moderator. In rural communities, the attendance is usually good, the debates are sensible and practical, and a satisfactory administration is generally secured."

"The town officials consist of selectmen, the town clerk, treasurer, assessors, tax collector, school committeemen, and the holders of diverse minor offices according to local needs. These are elected annually, except in some cases. The selectmen and school committeemen have a term of several years, one member of each board being elected annually. The selectmen form a sort of directory or executive committee, which manages the ordinary administrative and financial business under such instructions as may have been given by the town meeting."

To The Editor

The Editor
Wilmington Crusader
Wilmington, Mass.

Dear Sir:

The Town Meeting, which stems from early Colonial Times, is the established form of local government in New England. Most representative forms of control are government through the people, but the Town Meeting is the only true government by the people. The citizens have extensive legal and complete financial control, which are exercised at the Annual and Special Town Meetings.

However, during the periods between these meetings, the town must be represented, and therefore, we have both elected and appointed persons operating in our stead and answerable to us. Because of the lack of a centralized authority and the irregular schedule of Special Town Meetings, there is a natural tendency towards individual independence among our various officials. Individuality, per se, is the basis upon which this country was founded, but its practice in a situation which requires cooperation and coordination only results in compounded confusion.

When individual boards or persons vie for power and prestige, the best interests of the town are subjugated to the strategy of the struggle, I believe, and I feel that the people of North Reading will agree with me, that to serve for the good of the majority, our town government should operate smoothly. I also believe that this can be accomplished by a spirit of cooperation between the various town boards, coupled with a proper understanding supplied by the executive group.

As in a piece of fine machinery, each component should have a definite function, perform that function without encroaching upon the other components, and operate as an entity to perform its prescribed duty with the utmost efficiency.

Sincerely yours,
James E. Herrick, Jr.

CORRIDOR TRAFFIC

Wilmington High School is one big traffic tie-up resembling Boston during the rush hours everytime the bell rings to announce the end of a class. The snarl intensifies during lunch hours and the crash in the cafeteria itself is hazardous to life and limb. No wonder the students take out school accident and life insurance policies!

A bystander hanging from the ceiling for safety's sake would observe the absence of courtesy and safety rules during the periods of moving between classes and the starving-student-stampede for the cafeteria at lunch time.

The students themselves are the major factor in Wilmington High's traffic snarl. Many of them are apparently practicing the 100-yard dash for the track team as they race through the school at high speeds scattering the unfortunates blocking their "right of way". Conversely here is some dragalong, in no hurry to reach his next class. Then there are the gangs who drift slowly along blocking everyone's path.

The solution for the traffic jam tying up Wilmington High is the monitor system sponsored by the Student Council. Consisting of volunteer students, the monitors police the halls, the staircases, and the cafeteria. In the past years the monitors have greatly eliminated the traffic snarls by having the students observe the fundamental rules, courtesy and safety. Eliminating these unnecessary tie-ups would allow for a smoother schedule, and reduce the wear and tear on student and faculty.

It has been brought to this writers attention, by personal experience, that the traffic congestion while passing from one class to another is getting to be quite a problem.

I was peacefully trying to get from the lower corridor of the Adams Street wing to the upper corridor. I found this was impossible. As I walked behind three girls, who were spread across the corridor as if they were the only ones in the whole school, laughing and joking and talking their blessed time, I tried to make up a good excuse for being late for class. It so happened that this time I was lucky and didn't receive any detention. I shudder to think of what might happen the next time.

After a few days of similar experiences I discovered that I was fighting a losing battle. This feeling became stronger when the lunch bell rang and I was caught in a massive wave of human bodies carrying me toward the cafeteria. This wave did not care whether I was going that way or not, and I began to wonder what, if anything, could be done to remedy this situation.

Then I remembered the very successful monitor system we had last year. It kept traffic running very smoothly in the corridors and was hardly ever late for class and I was a monitor, which meant that the corridors had to be clear before I could leave.

In past years it has been the practice for the Student Council to set up this system. How about it, Charlie?

UNWANTED

in four parts

by ROSEANN EATON

Little Alice Long walked up and down in front of her home, looking as though she had lost her last friend. For her tender years, eight in all, she had a quick-thinking mind.

Right now she was waiting for her mother and father. Her mother, as she put it, was going to buy a new baby. Alice hoped with all her heart that the baby that Mommy picked would be a nice, fat, little boy. She didn't want a sister; she already had an older sister, and if you ever had an older sister you'd understand why Alice wanted a brother. Poor Alice didn't think she had the strength to put up with another girl in the house.

Then, as she was about to walk toward the house for the seventh time, she saw her Daddy's car pull up in the driveway.

"Yippee," she yelled, as she made a mad dash toward the car. "Mommy's home, she's home. She's got the baby, too."

"Oh my little pixie," said her mother, "it's so good to see you. How have you been for Daddy? What have you done since I left? Oh, but I have so much to catch up on."

On the way into the house Alice asked what kind the baby was, and from the time she heard the words, "It's a girl," she was a very unhappy little girl.

After they got into the house, Daddy was put to work unpacking the baby's bags; sister Jo was put to work heating a bottle for the baby, and Mommy undressed the baby. Only Alice was left with nothing to do.

"Mommy," she said, "can I do something? Please let me help, too."

"Alice!" boomed the loud voice of her father, "get away from the baby and stop pestering your mother. Why don't you go out and play and stop being a pest? You know your mother is tired."

"Oh Daddy," she sobbed, "you don't love me any more." Then she ran into her room, crying uncontrollably, and she shut the door behind her.

As her father headed toward the closed door, her mother stopped him saying, "Please don't take it out too much on her. She's just excited. Something like this doesn't happen every day, you know. We'll talk about it later tonight, when everyone is in bed."

"I guess you're right," he said. While her parents were talking this scene so lightly, Alice was heartbroken, feeling sure that her new baby sister had made everyone in the house hate her. This was to be the bow that set off the arrow of worrisome events that would soon envelop the whole family.

It was then that Alice remembered that not everyone hated her. She still had one person to turn to, and she turned to Him. With tears streaming down her cheeks and a weight in her little heart, she brought her problem to God.

"Oh God," she cried, "You're the only one who loves me now. Mommy and Daddy don't need me because they have a new little baby. Please God," she begged,

ALAN FORD

Alan Ford represents all that a student should be and more. He is interested in his subjects, clubs, sports, and fellow students.

Al was born in Lynn on July 2, 1943, and lived there for nine years before coming to Wilmington.

This year he was voted president of the Junior Class and takes an active part in all its activities. He is in band, math club, and chapel choir.

Al is a good student with marks ranging in the 90's. He likes chemistry, algebra and Jud the best. Biology, logic, research and music are a few of his studious interests while basketball, track, tennis to water skiing attract his sporting side.

He dislikes very few things but people that consider others below them, rainy vacations, too much homework, and magazines that try to copy "Mad" are his pet peeves. Al has a worthy ambition. He wants, "Maybe to teach or do some scientific research, but mainly to grow up the man my parents would like to see me be and to bring a little light and happiness into other peoples lives." Good luck Al.

"please make them love me again, even if it's only a little bit." Then, with her whole body convulsing with sobs, she threw herself down on her bed and cried, "I want someone to love me, please let someone love me." In a little while she was sound asleep, with the tears dried on her cheek and the weight still in her heart. Unknown to her, the still loving hands of her mother had covered her. Unknown to her, the still loving known to her, two loving kisses had been planted on her cheek, one from her father and one from her mother. Unknown to her parents, a wound had been inflicted on the innocent heart that would take much love to heal. A wall of misunderstanding had now been built between Alice and her family. (Continued next week)

DIANE IMBIMBO

Diane Imbimbo, the Treasurer of the Class of '61 for three years, was born on January 31, 1943, and has lived in Wilmington all her life.

Her hobbies are acting, writing, collecting L.P.S., enjoying the good things about my friends and acquaintances. Diana's ambition is to study dramatics, start or be associated with a community theater; someday be a successful wife and mother and always be healthy, fairly wealthy, and wise.

LIKES: Most people, cats and dogs, good literature, acting, writing, directing, (perhaps being the boss is a better word than directing), most forms of music, good entertainment, thinking that I'm helping to make the Junior Class be something memorable, expensive clothes, jewelry etc., having money and going shopping with my friends, listening to and or watching Harry Belafonte, Dean Martin, Charleton Heston, Tony Curtis, Judith Anderson, Katherine Hepburn, Mahalia Jackson, Ella Fitzgerald.

DISLIKES: Some people, unrealistic or mushy literature, poor acting, B pictures, people with little or no talent who have been made into big stars, squeezing dues money out of juniors, not having money, snobs, social climbers, "nice girls" who look down their noses at other girls just because the others seem to be enjoying themselves, people who back-bite, gossip, and "exaggerate" (that includes boys, girls, and adults!), teachers who think we don't have enough work to do, people who undermine the American education system and the moral standards of this generation.

The Freshmen Class of Wilmington High School elected class officers last week. Richard Allard was chosen to lead the class in 1960. Other officers elected were Joyce Randall, vice President; Rita Belilaqua, secretary; and Judith Lafaver, treasurer.

Freshmen Class advisers are: Miss Brickze and Mr. Hogan.

The second alarm brought assistance from Tewksbury and Reading. The fire was so intense that rescue operations were impossible. The bodies were recovered at 3 A.M. and were found on the first floor. Miss Emmons was an arthritic cripple and could not be moved without assistance.

The fire evidently started on the 1st floor of the building and spread through causing the second floor to collapse.

In the class for special midget girls, Marie Hersom won both her races and brought home a trophy. Marie out-skated many New York entrants to bring this honor back to Wilmington. Another Wilmington youngster, Celia Pushee was entered in the same event. She did not win, but certainly made a good try.

In the pee wee boys class, Drew O'Connell won both events, the 110 and the 220 finals and returned to our town armed with a trophy. Scott Waugh also made a grand showing for his group.

Danny O'Connell won both events in the special midget boys class. He was also awarded a trophy for his efforts. Entered in the same class for Wilmington were David O'Connell and Ray LePore.

For Wilmington in the midget girls group, Janet Perry won the 220 final and placed fourth in the 440 which gave her the most points, thus making her winner in the meet for her class. --Nice going Janet.

Nancy Hersom won a second place medal in the 220 final and placed third in the 440.

Lenny Galvin came in second in the 220 and 440 finals for the midget boys which gained for him two silver medals. Leo O'Connell 3rd also raced in the midget boys class.

In the juvenile girls class, Dottie Hersom and Joyce Chinn are co-champs. Dottie won the 220 final and came in second in the 440 while Janet won the 440 and came second in the 220. This made it necessary to hold a "skate off" which Dottie won. Dottie came home with the trophy, but they are considered "co-champs" as they tied in number of points.

Alice Perry came in third in the 220 and 440 finals which gave her two bronze medals. In this juvenile girls group, the competition is very keen between Alice Perry, Joyce Chinn and Dottie Hersom.

For the junior girls, Patty Fiske came in second in the 220 final and in the 880 for which she was awarded two silver medals. Kathy Pushee also represented Wilmington in this class.

Selectmen Meet

Tewksbury - As a result of a motion of Selectman John Morrissey that "an investigation be made of the finances, salaries, bids, and all financial transactions of the school department, under the authority of Chapter 41, Section 23B, including Chapter 233, Section 8 of the General Laws", the board of Selectmen will inquire into the finances of the town departments. The motion by Morrissey was amended so that all the departments be included, and the heads of the departments will attend conferences at the Town Hall and turn in financial records. This action is unprecedented and uses as its authority newly enacted legislation.

Under a new law sponsored by a legislature session of the Massachusetts Selectmen's Association, the board has the authority to summon and look into the records and require the officials involved to testify under oath concerning the inquiry.

The announcement came following a January 12 conference with Town Counsel Warren Allgrove on the provisions of the newly enacted law.

At the same meeting that Morrissey's motion was made, a letter was given the Board by tax collector Louis Amiot, stating that he will not be a candidate for reelection in March.

Mary Nugent of 7 California Road, was drawn to serve at the Superior Court in February.

One bid was received and opened in regards to printing the Annual Town report, $9.50 per page for 2500 copies, plus $141.00 for 1,000 copies of the warrant. A unanimous vote was taken for bid acceptance.

Road Commissioner Gath requested the Commissioners used $671 balance in the Trull Road Account for salaries, and the Board did not object provided the Auditor's approval was received. Gath also wished to use the $3,000 left in the Snow and Ice Account for purchase of a snow plow.

Mr. Priebe stated the fence problem on Livingstone Street had reached a solution. Mr. Barker agreed the fence may remain if Mr. Walker maintains it.

The Merrimack-Essex Electric Co. and New England Tel. and Tel. Co. submitted a petition for placement of 15 poles on Shawsheen Street. Selectman Morrissey will investigate the location.

A Sunday entertainment license was approved unanimously for Robert Finethy of the Riverview Restaurant.

The re-location of the Town Library was discussed.

Cluff moved the deadline for the submission of Town Meeting articles to be set February 6, and that a newspaper advertisement be placed.

Morrissey asked if the warrant could contain an article stating that money left in the high school building account be returned to general funds after the building is turned over to the school committee.

Two treasurer's warrants were approved: December 31, 1959, $37,123.86; January 5, 1960, $21,734.08, salaries.

First Baptist Annual Meeting

The Annual Business Meeting of the First Baptist Church was held at the church Wednesday evening. The meeting was conducted by the pastor, Rev. Earton P. Robertson. Following a devotional service, conducted by the pastor, the church proceeded to the business session. Reports of officers, committees and organizations were presented in mimeographed form and accepted by the church. There reports show a continued growth in the church both from a spiritual and a material standpoint. Treasurer's reports showed that all bills were paid to date and a balance in all accounts.

There is a strong feeling that it may be possible for the church to start the construction of its Christian Education Unit this year. At the present time the architect is engaged in the preparation of the specifications for the building. When these are received it will be possible for the church to obtain an estimate of cost. It is hoped that with this estimate funds may be acquired making it possible to proceed with construction.

Monthly Social At Legion Hall

WILMINGTON -- The monthly social held at the Legion Hall on January 9 was again a wonderful evening. Pot Roast, potatoes, string beans, carrots, parsnips, boiled onions, rolls, butter, cookies and coffee were served which was superb. Ray LaFortune's orchestra was as good as always for dancing the remainder of the evening.

We were sorry to see a few chairs next to the band were empty. If it is at all possible, try not to hold those surprise birthday parties on the second Saturday of the month, but if such situations should arise, we would like you to know that the Legion hall can take such a surprise.

The door prize went again to North Street, this time to Mrs. Joanne Bradley; the two beautiful lamps went to Mr. George Reddick of Malden, Mass.

On Monday, January 25, the Legion will sponsor a whist party to be held at the hall at 8 p.m. We believe a very good selection of prizes has been chosen and we hope to see a large crowd. So if it is whist you want at its best, come to Legion Hall. We assure you an enjoyable evening. A penny sale will be held followed by refreshments.

The next meeting of the Post will be January 21, at 8 p.m. at the hall. All members are asked to attend and to try and be there at 8 sharp.

On Saturday, January 30, the movies for the children will be shown, so kids, start saving your pennies now---its only 25¢.

Another day to keep in mind is February 13th when a Valentine's Dance and the Monthly Social will be combined at the hall. So fellows, we know you are all making plans to take your valentine out on that night---why not make it the Legion where you won't have far to travel and can really have a good time!

Well-Baby Clinic Poorly Attended

The Well-Baby Clinic, sponsored by the No. Reading Visiting Nurse Assn. each month, was poorly attended Tuesday morning. The VNA Assn., wishes to impress upon the townspeople that this is not a charitable, organization, and offers wonderful opportunity for mothers of young children to get together each month, as well as to keep a close check on baby's health progress. A thorough examination is given each baby for a nominal fee, which is slightly higher when triple shots are given. Polio shots and vaccinations are not included.

About seven babies are checked Tuesday morning by attending physician John P. Mahoney, M.D., aided by Mrs. Dorothy Spicer, attending Nurse. Transportation is provided each month as needed.

LWV Discusses School Children's Health Problem

No. Reading - The North Reading League of Women Voters discussed many specific problems of public health under the general headings of "Health of School Children", "Disease Control", and "Adult Health" at units held on Jan. 5, 6, and 7. Material for the discussion was gathered and presented by the resource committee; Mrs. G. Rich, Mrs. T. Ross, and Mrs. H. Lewis, chairman.

The main topics of interest were public health education, recreational facilities for older people, the school health program, health councils, and health agents.

It was generally agreed that there is a need for more public health education, especially regarding our local health regulations, such as the citizens' legal responsibilities in reporting communicable diseases to the Board of Health. Solutions suggested to correct this problem were: 1. that an informative booklet containing these and other important health facts be sent to all residents; 2. that a health column appear in the local paper; and 3. that a display of health information booklets be set up in the local library.

Most members felt that North Reading has a good school health program. It was pointed out that parents should be aware that the cafeteria menus are scientifically prepared and are part of this program. Some parents would like to see a regular calisthenics program in the grade schools.

Members also discussed the possibilities of having a rabies clinic for dogs, and of having a mobile TB unit visit North Reading.

It was concluded that the League should consider further study of a community planning council for public health, and of a professional health agent, as the most logical solutions for improving North Reading's public health program. Most health councils consist of representatives from various organizations interested in good community health. The main purpose of a council would be to analyze the health needs of the town.

Discussion was stimulating, and there were many areas of agreement, but no official stand was taken on any issue, since Leaguers felt that they were not presently well enough informed.

Units on garbage and refuse disposal will be held in March. Time and place of the meetings will be announced.

Conference with George Davis with acceptance of Marshall St.

Conference with Town Counsel, Walter Billowz.

Conference with Herbert Mosher, Director of Public Welfare.

Conference with Ralph P. Costanza with reference to the acceptance of Spruce Road.

Signed weekly warrant in the sum of $64,879.62.

At 7:30 Thursday, Jan. 14, the Board of Appeals held a hearing in Flint Memorial Hall, with three people beside the board present, on the petition of Michael Bordonaro for a variance from the applicable building by-law to permit the dwelling, located on Lot 8 Putnam Road, to remain in its present position, 16 feet from the st., rather than the required 20 feet.

The Board considered the facts of the case as presented by the appellant and arrived at the following decisions regarding the four requirements which must be proved in order that a variance may be granted.

1. Special conditions-The board found that a special condition does exist in that the building is already permanently located in its present position, 16 feet from the st., line.

2. Hardship-To require the appellant to move the building in order to comply with the zoning by-laws would result in unnecessary hardship to the appellant.

3. Relief may be granted in this case without substantial detriment to the public good.

4. Relief may be granted without substantially nullifying or derogating from the intent and purpose of the By-laws.

In view of the above conclusions, the Board, composed of Hazen E. Bickford, Richard Evans, H. P. Bertoulou, voted unanimously to grant the variance.

LWV Reports To Senate In Water Conservation

Four years of research and study and a strong consensus of local Leagues were behind Mrs. Jacob M. Israelsohn, Mass. L.W.V. State Conservation Chairman, as she presented two statements to the United States Conservation Chairman, as she presented two statements to the United States Senate Select Committee on Water Resources in Boston, Dec. 8--one on behalf of the League New England Water Resources Committee and the other on behalf of the Massachusetts League. The following comments are excerpts from her reports.

"The major issues which the New England states have in common are pollution control, flood control, protection and development of our recreational facilities, and the conservation and development of our water supply.

We agree that possible aids to the solution of these water problems are (1) greater coordination in over-all planning of water development, (2) the sharing of costs, in some cases, among several levels of government, and (3) removal of conflicts and inconsistencies in basic policy among the federal agencies.

We hope that the Federal Grant-in-aid for the Pollution Control Program will continue, and in fact be expanded to include the additional provisions set forth in the

Blatnik Bill H.R. 3610."

"We firmly believe in approaching flood control from the point of reasonable performance on the part of the States Flood Plain Zoning is felt to be an important contribution toward solving the flood control problem. However, the general public, industry and in fact local communities do not seem to be aware of the flood damage problems they create by building on the unprotected flood plains and stream banks. There is a big public education job necessary in this concept of flood control."

"While the overall water supply will apparently be sufficient to meet increasing needs, there is an immediate necessity for the development of ground water supply and distribution as well as the acquisition of new reservoir sites."

"We feel that problems which exist in New England can best be solved by the cooperative efforts of all the states and the federal government. For this reason, we are supporting the Northeastern Water and Related Land Resources Compact. This Compact has been studied this past year in approximately 175 local communities in New England in which we have a League."

"We are also supporting S2549, the Resources and Conservation Act of 1960 introduced by Senator Murray of Montana. This bill clearly agrees with our position to support coordinated administration."

EASTERN SPEEDSKATING CHAMPIONSHIP MEET AT SILVER LAKE SATURDAY—SUNDAY

WILMINGTON--Well--the big weekend has arrived at last! This is the week end that all contestants and residents have been waiting for. The meet will be held at Silver Lake (beach area, near D.A.V. Hall), and races will start at 1 p.m. on each day. Skaters from all over the Eastern Seaboard will be in town to take part in this event. This is our chance to show them what hospitality Wilmington really has.

The success of this week end has been planned for many months and a complete schedule of events has been arranged. Aside from the races, a bean supper will be conducted free of charge (for the skaters) at the High School Cafeteria on Saturday night at 6 p.m. Others desiring to enjoy this supper will be charged a small fee. The Wilmington Youth Canteen has graciously consented to hold a dance for the skaters at the Wildwood School for all skaters, trienos and teenagers of our town on Saturday night at 8 p.m.

The D.A.V. has been very generous in offering the use of their hall for the parents to have a get-together Saturday evening while their children are enjoying themselves at the Wildwood School Dance.

Mr. Leo O'Connell Sr., has done a terrific job in arranging for sleeping quarters for the out-of-town skaters. He has had to fill 300 accommodations, and is still short a few placements. If you desire to help him, please call OL 8-2780 anytime.

Fred Kleynen of our fire department will be in charge of the "Chuck Wagon."

Scottie's Donut Shoppe of the Wilmington Plaza will feature a list of breakfasts on both days for the skaters at a low cost.

The Wilmington Skating Club would like to thank the Fire Department for their offers to help and all others who will assist in any way. Larry Fiske and his committee will supervise the track, Saturday night at 8 p.m.

THE OTHER DAY

A friend was telling us some interesting things about the tallest building in the world, the Empire State Building in New York City. Standing on an area of about two acres (the site of the old Waldorf Astoria Hotel,) it rises to 102 stories above the street, 1472 feet high, 488 feet higher than the Eiffel Tower, and 426 feet above the second tallest building in the world.

Its enormous weight is 303,000 tons of steel, stone, and almost any other metal or material you can name, which makes it truly one of the largest undertakings of man.

It is classed as one of the modern 7 Wonders of the World, and gives us a startling comparison of the progress and ways of modern man, compared with all previous history of building. Various world famous structures in history, small by comparison, took many years to build, but this modern giant, the Empire State Building, took only 14 months from start to finish.

It reminds us of the American wartime slogan "The difficult we do at once, the impossible takes a little longer." And in serving your automobile needs, we are mindful of that motto in aiming for your complete satisfaction.
